THE MYSTERY OF THE THREE MISSING AMERICAN FLIERS who participated in the famed Doolittle raid on Tokyo, April 18, 1942, has been solved. Captured enemy records disclose that the Yank airmen died before a firing squad in a prisoner-of-war camp near Shanghai's Kiangwan race track on Oct. 15, 1942. The executed Tokyo raiders were identified as (l. to r.): Lt. Dean E. Hallmark, Dallas, Tex.; Sgt. Harold A. Spatz, Lebo, Kans., and New York State; and Lt. William G. Farrow of Washington, D. C., and Darlington, S. C. (International)

TROOP RETURN SCHEDULED NOW IS SPEEDED UP

Control of Nip Economy Is Tightened by Allied Occupation Forces

TOKYO, Sept. 28.—(P)—Shipping will be available to send 1,490,000 American servicemen home from the Pacific within the next seven months, Allied headquarters said it was informed by the War Department today.

General MacArthur also announced an order for the seizure of 34 Japanese officers and men suspected of complicity in the fiendish torch massacre of more than 100 Allied prisoners of war at Palawan in the Philippines Dec. 11, 1944.

Some 725,000 high-point American servicemen already are eligible to return home in October, November, December and January, filling shipping quotas for those months, headquarters said. Shipping will be available in February, March and April for 765,000 others who by that time are expected to be eligible.

There are 150,000 occupation troops in Japan, in addition to several thousand in airforce, engineer and special service units, and if scheduled October landings are made the total will rise to 265,000. Including army and marine units in Korea and China, the total would be 340,000, headquarters said.

Tentative Schedule
Headquarters announced these tentative homing dates for divisions in the Philippines: 31st division, Oct. 31; 38th, Nov. 1; 37th, Nov. 15.

The 43rd division, first to come home from the Far Pacific, already has begun loading its high-point men at Yokohama.

The calendar of landings calls for a total of 22 army and marine divisions in Japan, Korea and China by the end of next month.

No date has been announced for the 32nd infantry's entry into Sasebo and no date has been fixed for the arrival of the 96th and 20th infantry divisions in Korea.

Operations officials said they were unable to elaborate on the occupation schedule, now being carried out by four separate groups—the Sixth army on Kyushu and lower Honshu, the Eighth army on northeastern Honshu and Hokkaido, the 24th army corps in Korea and the Third amphibious corps in China.

Massacre Investigated
In the Palawan massacre, the prisoners, many of them Americans, were driven by their captors into a large air raid shelter. Buckets of gasoline and lighted torches were hurled in after them. A few who escaped the inferno were mowed down by machinegun fire or hand grenades, or were brutally bayoneted by the Nipponese.

More Strikes Brewing As Idle Ranks Increase

VETERANS OF THE BATTLES OF MIDWAY, Guam, Salerno, and other famed battlegrounds join the picket line at the huge strikebound Texas Company refinery at Port Arthur, Tex. In an effort to end the strike, labor and oil company officers have opened conciliation talks in Chicago which may return 30,000 workers to their jobs. (International Soundphoto)

Big Marine Force May Patrol World

Plan Submitted to Congress Calls for 100,000 Men and 9,200 Officers for 'Minute Men' With Expanded Two-fleet Navy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—(P)—Plans for use of United States Marines as "minute men" in the international organization to maintain peace were disclosed by Gen. A. A. Vandegrift.

Testifying in support of a post-war Marine force of 100,000 enlisted and 9,200 officer personnel, the Marine commandant told the House Naval Committee.

"In the event that present efforts towards international organization to prevent war are unsuccessful, the scope of the fleet Marine force will be expanded. It is a force of 'Minute Men,' and it will be held in readiness to be moved instantly with the fleet to any part of the world to strike hard and promptly to forestall at its beginning any attempt to disrupt the peace of the world."

TROUBLED ARGENTINA IN BAD WITH U. S.
BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 28.—(P)—The Truman administration officially told the Argentine government today that the state of siege and other measures taken by this country's military regime inevitably would have "a deplorable effect" on public opinion in the United States.

Full censorship was applied to Buenos Aires newspapers today by the military government which had taken into custody the Argentine's most distinguished editors.

POSTWAR PLANNERS MEET
COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 28.—(P)—Postwar planners from 17 northwestern Ohio counties today were invited to attend a meeting of the Ohio Postwar Program Commission in Toledo, Oct. 5.

The total planned post-war strength of the fleet Marine force is 59,289 officers and enlisted men, including 44,190 in the ground forces and 15,099 in the air force. Marines, he disclosed, will furnish the entire aviation complement of eight escort carriers, although the carriers themselves will be manned by Navy crews.

Fleet Plans Submitted
The House Naval Committee sought Congressional support today for a permanent American fleet of at least 1,079 fighting ships with this four-fold objective:

1. To insure our national integrity.
2. To support our national policies.
3. To guard the continental United States "and our overseas possessions and give protection to our commerce and citizens abroad."

Around-the-World Airline Start Set

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—(P)—A giant C-54 thunders eastward over the Atlantic late today, opening the first regular world-girdling schedule. It will carry to high adventure seven men and a woman who will be guinea pigs as well as observers on the 23,147-mile flight.

Taking off at 5 P. M., EWT, from Washington National Airport, the 40-passenger Douglas Skymaster of the U. S. Army Air Transport Command heads first for Bermuda.

Then, after a one-hour stop, it wings on to the Azores, to North Africa, to Egypt, to India, to China and back home again—in 151 hours—by way of the Philippines, Honolulu and tiny Pacific isles made sacred by the blood of American fighting men.

This schedule, "The Globester," will be the first continuous "round-the-world" service.

Throughout the flight, tests of many kinds will be made among the three ATC headquarters officers, an ATC Public Relations officer, a photographer and three reporters who of the more than 20 aboard the "Globester" at the start will be the only ones to go the entire route.

Japs Blamed For Trouble In Far East

SAIGON, Sept. 26.—(Delayed) —(P)—A high ranking Japanese general conceded today that some Japanese soldiers had supplied arms to rioting Annamese (natives) after Emperor Hirohito's surrender order last month.

Lt. Gen. Takazo Numata, chief of staff and spokesman for Field Marshal Count Juichi Terauchi, former commander of the Japanese southern armies, told a press conference that "some Japanese but no officers joined the Annamite rebels after our surrender."

DISORDERS CONTINUE
SINGAPORE, Sept. 27.—(Delayed) —(P)—Maj. Gen. D. D. Gracey, commander of Allied forces in South Indo-China, arrived by plane in Singapore today for conferences on the continuing disorders throughout Japan's one-time Greater East Asia co-prosperity sphere.

LOOTING IN SHANGHAI
SHANGHAI, Sept. 28.—(P)—Armed Chinese troops today seized several German business firms, and placed guards outside the majority of houses and flats occupied in Shanghai in a step reported as preliminary to internment all Germans in Shanghai.

A spokesman for Shanghai's 2,400 Germans said among office buildings taken over was the German bank, which played an important role in the Japanese occupation, and I. G. Farbenindustrie, big dye trust.

War Intelligence Service, U. S. Spy System, Effective But Not Popular

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Major General Wild Bill Donovan bowed out of the first real American intelligence service (OSS) with a somewhat cool-sounding response from President Truman to his idea of developing his line of effort further for peace. Mr. Truman cut up OSS, sending part to the War Department, but most to state. The Donovan notion of hiring someone like Sumner Welles, the diplomat, to keep intimate and independent watch on the inner international world, was left hanging in air—somewhat foggy air.

General Donovan has never been a glamour boy. He is a rather crusty soldier-lawyer. Those who know what he did in the confidential special-agent part of the war say his work in the Balkans particularly was excellent and could have been done by no one else as well. Into his organization, however, crept

GAS RATIONING BY OHIO WILL NOT BE SET UP

Industries and Services All Over Country Feel Pinch Of Labor Difficulties

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—(P)—President Truman today issued proclamations asserting United States jurisdiction over oil resources of the continental shelf below waters bordering all coasts.

One reserved the natural resources of the continental shelf under the high seas and placed them under the jurisdiction of the secretary of the interior.

The other provided for establishment, under recommendation of the interior and state departments, of fishery conservation zones in areas of the high seas contiguous to the United States coast.

(By the Associated Press)
New storm warnings were hoisted along the country's labor front today as a fresh major dispute threatened to force more than a half million workers off their jobs.

The newest controversy centered on the walkout of 6,000 textile workers in the Paterson, N. J., area, which closed 70 plants. A CIO union official said the walkout would mean within 24 hours 68,000 additional workers would be forced from their jobs in 214 plants in nine eastern and southern states. He further predicted the shutdowns would idle approximately a half million garment workers.

Thousands Affected
In the event of this development, the number of workers idle because of strikes and shutdowns over labor disputes would soar past the two million mark, including 1,500,000 affected indirectly by the New York City building service strike.

Across the country, strikes and shutdowns kept some 370,000 persons away from their jobs, and with the New York City idle the total number affected touched around 1,870,000.

Meanwhile, the threatened nationwide strike of 250,000 CIO oil workers was delayed. After meeting three days in Chicago, principals in the conciliation conference moved to Washington to resume their efforts tomorrow to effect a settlement in the dispute over wage demands and of the 13-day-old strike of some 35,000 workers in eight states.

Situation in Ohio
Mayor Thomas A. Burke of Cleveland called a meeting of oil industry and union representatives at 10 A. M. tomorrow to set up rationing throughout the city to insure gasoline supplies for emergency users.

"We want to assure supplies for doctors, nurses, hospitals, police and fire departments, milk and food suppliers, public transportation and other users coming under the emergency classification," Burke declared.

More than half Cuyahoga County's filling stations were closed because of shortages following the strike of CIO-oil workers in seven states for a 30 percent wage increase.

No State Rationing
The state government has no authority to set up a system of gasoline rationing, Gov. Frank J. Lausche said today, but it could give its moral support to any such program.

He set forth the state's position as his wartime committee on oil and rubber gathered to inquire into the seriousness of a drought of motor fuel that has followed a strike of oil workers.

Japs Tried To Conceal Murder

By RICHARD CUSHING
SHANGHAI, Sept. 28.—(P)—The conniving Japanese military deliberately tried to cover up on the disposition of the bodies of three Doolittle fliers, executed by firing squad on trumped up charges October 15, 1942.

The evidence, in American hands today, showed:

Wooden boxes containing the cremated bodies, were turned over to a civilian mortuary. They should have been turned over to the International Red Cross.

The falsified records listed the three as having "died on different dates—Sept. 2, Sept. 8 and Oct. 2, 1942. All three were shot while tied to crude crosses in a Chinese cemetery, October 15, 1942.

False names were given.

The boxes were discovered yesterday. An official list, just recovered, established the correct identities.

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE

Garrett Ramey points with pride to the remarkable record of his taxi drivers, who, during the last year have recovered 118 purses left in the taxis by careless passengers, and turned the purses into the office, where they were returned to their owners.

These purses contained all the way from 38 cents to $1500, and "it certainly reflects the honesty of my drivers," said Garrett in commenting upon the large number of purses left in the taxis.

It took five years for Ralph and Irvin Hyer to get together.

It finally happened though, a few days after both men had been discharged from the army. The meeting was at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chan Hyer, 608 East Temple Street.

During both their army careers, neither happened to be home on furlough at the same time as the other. When they went overseas, Ralph was in Sicily, Africa, France and Italy for 30 months and Irvin went to the other side of the world to stay 28 months in the South Pacific. Irvin got home in August, 1944, six months before his brother.

But now, after five years of missing each other dodging in and out of army camps, the brothers have met.

NIGHT CLUB GIRL DIES IN APARTMENT

Master of Ceremonies Lies Outside Door

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—(P)—An attractive 20-year-old brunette night club camera girl was found dead in her gas-filled apartment yesterday.

Outside the apartment, the night club's master of ceremonies lay unconscious.

Detective Sergeant Richard Felber identified the girl as Mrs. Inez Sykes Boone and said she had left two notes. One was addressed to John James Michaelson, Jr., master of ceremonies at the Troika night club where she worked, and the other to her mother, Mrs. Irene Sykes of Kansas City, Mo. The note to her mother said she was "tired and sorry," Felber said.

Felber said Michaelson, also known as Johnny Sinclair, told them he had gone to Mrs. Boone's apartment yesterday and entered after he smelled gas. After turning off the gas, he fell unconscious. Michaelson was revived at a hospital.

Public Work Bill On Smoother Path

Compromise Effected on Wording of 'Full Employment' Plan as It Moves Toward Senate Vote — Ohioans Incline Toward Limit for Presidential Tenure

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—(P)—A plan its authors say could prevent another depression approached a Senate vote today in the form of the "full employment" bill.

Days of spirited oratory over wording of the way to achieve the universally-desired objective lay behind.

A late compromise suggestion on this point by Senator Hatch (D-NM) was approved tentatively by both sides.

Debate had centered on the bill's statement that the Federal government would "provide such volume of Federal investment and expenditure as may be needed . . . to assure continuing full employment."

Hatch's amendment would say that "the Federal government shall, consistent with its needs, obligations and other essential considerations of national policy, provide" that volume.

Taft Seeks Curb

The New Mexico senator thus sought to arrive at a wording that would be agreeable alike to proponents of the pending measure and to Senators Radcliffe (D-Md) and Taft (R-Ohio). The latter two had protested that the original wording was too broad.

A number of amendments were pending as the Senate was called into session an hour early (11 A. M. EWT) to finish work on the measure.

One by Taft seeks to commit the government to a balanced budget.

The bill provides for a "national budget" on jobs. When it appears private enterprise and state and local activities aren't going to provide enough jobs to go around, the government would be committed to creating them.

Romantic Yank Captures Nazi Rival

Liberating Lieutenant Woos Belgian Girl With Food While German Lover in Cellar

By HAL BOYLE

HONG KONG.—(P)—Thumbing through old notebooks of the European campaign:

It was in the final stages of the "battle of the bulge." The Germans had gambled and lost, and were slowly pulling back through battered Belgian villages whose devastated ugliness was relieved only by the white beauty of the snow. And the snow was melting.

Soon after the gray-blue tide of Nazis retreated from one village on the Belgian-German border it was entered and occupied by an American outfit. Buildings in livable condition were scarce and one lieutenant was quartered in the home of a local family.

He considered himself in great luck when he discovered that the family consisted only of papa, mama and their very pretty daughter. She was dark-haired, with dark smoldering eyes that passed over the lieutenant without lingering.

He was annoyed when fellow officers in bleaker billets joshed him on his good fortune.

"It isn't the way you think it is at all," he complained. "She won't give me a second look."

Taxation Dominates Our Future

The prosperity of the United States and its future as a free nation are inseparable from taxation. Business knows this and individuals are slowly becoming aware of it. In a recent statement, John G. Byler, Chairman of the Committee on Taxation, American Retail Federation, said: "We as retailers fight for tax laws which encourage production and the largest possible national income." He pointed out that retailers should work for five general taxation principles:

1. The federal budget should be in balance and there should be a gradual reduction in federal debt;
2. Income taxes should be the primary source of revenue and there should be no general federal sales tax at any level;
3. The bulk of income taxes should be secured direct from individuals rather than through a relatively high tax on corporation income;
4. Present excise taxes should be repealed, with possible traditional exceptions;
5. Social security taxes should be kept apart from the general tax structure and the rates of these taxes so fixed that the receipts will be kept in balance with expenditures under the social security program.

"The transition period now beginning," Mr. Byler concluded, "is a dangerous one from the tax angle. What we must fear is a reduction in wartime rates leaving the existing hodge-podge of tax laws with their false doctrines which handicap the operation of a free enterprise system." And that is good, sound reasoning.

Fight for Fiume

Fiume, the Adriatic seaport coveted by the Italians, is apparently to go to the Yugoslavs. This seems to be the decision of the foreign ministers of the Big Five.

It is not the first time that Fiume has figured in the headlines. Its disposition caused an uproar in the Paris Peace Conference of 1919, and the temporary withdrawal of Italy. The difficulty is that Dalmatia, of which Fiume is a part, is overwhelmingly Slavic, while the coast towns, Fiume, Trieste and Zara, which constitute its outlets to the sea, are Italian. The secret agreement of 1915, made by Great Britain and France to get Italy into the war, assigned Fiume to the Yugoslavs, and the 1919 Peace Conference ratified this agreement. Eventually the Italians returned to the conference, and Fiume remained Yugoslav till the Italian poet-adventurer, Gabriele D'Annunzio, a few years later seized Fiume for Italy.

Trieste is to be made an international port to solve the racial problem. Perhaps the same decision may have to be made for Fiume.

Shangri-La Adventure

Every little while, just as Americans are settling down to the view that this war after all was just a slugging match, there comes an interlude of heroic drama. The latest of these thrillers has been the story of the Wisconsin lad, Oliver Rasmussen, fittingly placed as a radio man on the carrier Shangri-la, whose plane was wrecked in bad weather by heading into a mountain of central Hokkaido. It is a real Robinson Crusoe tale, of which every normal American boy may be trusted to take full advantage.

The pilot was killed and Rasmussen, cut and bruised but able to navigate, was left alone. He stowed away the rations in the lifeboat and started overland for the coast. It was a Japanese farming country, and he did not dare show himself. So he lived by raiding farms and cellars and milking cows, drinking the milk and shaking cream in his canteen for butter and buttermilk. He thrived on such food and got his strength back, but was in continual danger, and finally learned from a Japanese that the war was over. The Jap shared his last cigarette with the American. Word was passed around and help came for him, and after three months he finally arrived safe in Tokyo.

It's just one of a hundred heroic stories that might be gathered up.

The Nazis burned books, the Yanks print them. Nearly 4,000,000 copies of American books will be sold in Europe in French, Dutch, Italian and German translations to make good the general destruction wrought by the Nazis. Books will also be available in English. These are being distributed by the Office of War Information's Overseas Publication Bureau, but involve no cost to Uncle Sam. Private subscriptions are defraying the entire cost. The books will be in cheap paper, aiming solely to bridge the gap till the liberated countries can start printing books on their own.

Of all the Nazis' acts of destructiveness, their assaults on the liberty of the mind were among the worst.

The Condition of Shock and the Symptoms It Produces

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

SHOCK is a condition in which there are low blood pressure, lessening of the sugar in the blood, increase in the amount of protein in the blood, slowing down of the circulation, and an increased concentration of the blood, that is, the amount of fluids present in the blood is lessened. Shock may be brought on in various ways, such as by long exposure, severe injury, bleeding, burns, etc. Exactly what happens in the body when shock develops, however, is still not known.

According to Doctor Martin S. Honan of Ireland, the symptoms produced by shock are much like those which develop in an animal from which the adrenal glands have been removed. The adrenal glands are located just above the kidneys and form several secretions which empty directly into the blood.

One Secretion

One of these is known as epinephrine and has the effect of raising the blood pressure. However, epinephrine has no usefulness in the treatment of shock.

There are two extracts available from another part of the adrenal gland. One is known as cortin and the other desoxycorticosterone. These extracts seem to affect the general chemical activities in the body, including the blood sugar, and have been used, apparently with good results, in treating shock in animals.

Responsible for Shock

The conditions which are particularly responsible for shock are hemorrhages, burns, and crushing injuries. The treatment of the shock in these cases consists of injections of blood into a vein, keeping the patient warm and at rest, and the giving of such drugs as the physician may deem to be necessary.

Such a drug as morphine may be employed to relieve pain. In burns and crushing injuries, Doctor Honan believes that injections of the adrenal gland extract cortin may be useful.

Cases have been reported of shock in newborn babies, due to prolonged childbirth. Doctor Honan thinks that, in these infants, the routine use of cortin or desoxycorticosterone may be quite beneficial. After prolonged childbirth, mothers also may suffer from shock, and treatment with cortin may be found of value. In shock due to head injuries, treatment with cortin has been found useful.

Further studies of the exact process which occurs when shock develops are necessary, and the use of adrenal gland preparations may be helpful in the treatment.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

I. G.: I have a swelling under my eyes. What could cause this and what can be done about it?

Answer: The swelling may be due to chronic kidney disease. Some disturbance of the circulation may be responsible. A careful study by a physician would be advisable so that an accurate diagnosis may be made and proper treatment carried out.

CLOTHING PRICE CUT

CHANCES DISAPPEAR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(AP)—Chances virtually disappeared today for the six to seven percent cut in clothing prices OPA predicted would be achieved this year.

OPA officials who asked that they not be named acknowledged this in the wake of additional price concessions to the garment industry.

These concessions, announced last night, mean that for the rest of this year, most manufacturers can make fewer low-priced garments than they have been required to heretofore.

OPA announced the public soon may have to pay more for cotton towels and flannel diapers, shirts and nightwear. This is expected to result from an increase given to manufacturers under terms of the price control act.

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

IT WAS not so much Susy Adams' remark to her little girl that was insulting. In fact, her question held a teasing friendly quality. What made Belinda flinch and change color was her mother's laugh.

In it was more scorn than a grown person could endure without feeling wretched. For a young girl to have to bear the brunt of such sarcasm was too much. Sandra started to speak a word of protection for the child. But before she could, Belinda's slight shoulders, beneath the birthday dress that she was wearing, snapped backward.

Coolly she asked her mother: "What's the matter? Don't you like this dress? It's a Sandra selection." That defense made Susy Adams pause for an instant. She said lightly: "My, my! How Sandra has entered our lives."

"I'm pretty fond of Red, mother." "Intimacy to the point of nicknames," mocked the blond girl. "It's amazing what all goes on when I'm not at the Mesquite."

"You've never cared anything about the Mesquite, except to drover in for a few days. You've never cared anything about me—"

"Except," interposed Susy, "to send you more money than you know what to do with. And stop talking like your father." She got up from the sofa and walked over to her child. "We'll talk my way for a while. You asked if I liked this dress. Frankly, Belinda, I do not. It is much too old for you."

"I'm 12 years old, Mother."

"Don't you think I'm well aware of your age? Don't I show that with each birthday check? Oh, don't turn up your nose! You think money doesn't amount to anything now. But you'll find out you can do just about anything if you have it." She stole a swift look at Sandra, standing beside the magazine table.

"I'm sure Miss Edwards meant well, selecting this frock for you, but please don't wear it while I'm here."

"And how long are you going to be here, Mother?" Belinda's steady gaze, Susy's face grew sad. She shook her head sadly. "Such a reception. That is exactly what your father asked. And when I said I intended to stay a long time—"

She stopped to chuckle with soft merriment. Sandra wondered how she could, when visibly she wanted to screech. "Do you know what he did, Belinda?" She chuckled again. "He left. He ran away."

Sandra saw further evidence of Belinda Adams' astounding self-control. Her hands hanging at her sides in a forlorn weariness, clenched once, then were limp again.

Susy's voice was not sad and limitless now. It held a hint of waspish rage. "In other words, he ran out on us."

"And I don't blame him."

Snapped back Belinda.

"That's enough of that sort of talk," her mother replied in sharp exasperation. "You think everything your father does is right. I can't understand why, when actually you know he isn't any good."

"Stop talking about Dad that way!" Hot bright tears were in the child's brown eyes.

"I've had enough from you, Belinda. It is time you learned some respect for your mother."

"You expect too much!" For an uncomfortable moment Sandra thought the blond girl was going to strike her daughter. If she could, Sandra assured herself, I'll do a football tackle. I'll positively flatten her.

But Susy Adams conquered any yearning toward physical violence, to say quietly: "Shall we just say you must learn manners?"

Belinda fought on. "Dad says your manners are to cover up your meanness, so I think you can teach me. I feel mean underneath."

For some inexplicable and astonishing reason, Susy Adams let that remark go without a scathing answer. She shifted to her first criticism. Perhaps she knew it hurt even more.

"First get out of that dress and into something sweet and young. And do something about this." Susy's soft hand flicked through the little girl's long wavy hair, as if it were almost untouchable. "This is so messy. You're so neat with the pigtails you used to wear. You're a plain little girl, Belinda. Be your type. Don't try to be something else. You can't do it."

There were pale gray lines about Belinda's mouth. "Red said I could," she persisted.

Her none too steady bravado deserted her, beneath the long silent gaze of her mother. Susy Adams then stared at Sandra. She did not speak to either of them. She simply laughed, just as she had when she first saw her little girl. That taunting, horrid laugh that branded both Belinda and Sandra, also their ideas, as utterly fatuous.

Belinda turned and fled. Sandra said: "There should be a law against that, just as there is against physical cruelty."

"Listen, Red, all you have to do is stop sticking your nose in my business."

Her use of Belinda's nickname for Sandra held none of the camaraderie that was there when the little girl used it. Susy made the appropriate term sound decidedly cheap.

"Why, Susy," chastened Sandra coolly, "mind what you call your manners."

Sandra was not surprised when the unhappy Belinda came to her rooms that evening. It was almost time for dinner, but she wore the same type costume she had worn the morning she met Spencer and his guardian at the station. Dirty Levi's, a checked cowboy shirt and her boots.

"I'm a sissy," she told Sandra. "I'm not going to stick around and take so much punishment. I'm going up to Dad's little cliff house. Brody will look out for me. I'm taking Tex with me for company."

A terrible rage toward Gordon Adams filled Sandra's heart. He had no business being so selfish, so thoughtless as to leave a little girl to be mistreated by his wife.

Belinda seemed to read those thoughts. "Dad believed he was doing right. Red, and so do I. You mustn't worry. You know," she confessed, "when you first came I hated you because you were so pretty. I hate all pretty ladies and you should know why. When I was afraid Dad liked you—"

Her words now began piling one on top of the other. "That made me hate you worse, and then I began to like you—when you tried to help me look better. After that I liked you more. I didn't even mind if Dad did like you. You mustn't worry. You know again. Her manner was now adult, as if she were older than Sandra, so nearly like Spencer's that Sandra felt a moment of terrible loneliness for her little charge. "She can't stay forever, Red."

But at Christmas time Susy was encroaching still deeper into the life at the Mesquite Ranch. She was unpacking trunks, for which she had sent, and taking charge of the holiday decorations. To the guests, everything was right, exciting and yet serene. To the other ranch group—Brody, Estela, the cowboys, even the stoical Indian boys—nothing was right. Estela wept as she made the Christmas cookies. The cowpunchers ignored Susy Adams to the point of rudeness. The Indians hid behind their natural emotionless masks. And Brody would not even climb for the mistletoe, down in the dry riverbed of Copper Creek.

Belinda had been in evidence only once, riding across the north hilltop on her favorite pony. Oddly, Susy Adams did not seem to mind the absence of her daughter. Perhaps the shock of finding her long-legged and shoulder high, in comparison to her own height, was repugnant to Susy. Evident in her attire was her desire to appear childish. And, children.

Spencer came up on the train from La Madera, the same tiny train on which he and Sandra had first arrived in Copper Creek, from the opposite direction. She watched him stand on the platform, deliberately holding up his fellow travelers, as he glanced haughtily about the station pavement.

"Oh, stop doing your traveling act all over the place," shrieked Belinda.

"Oh, hullo there, Belinda," he observed, still nonchalant. "You must have on new Levi's. I see there are no holes in the knees."

By then she was directly beneath him, but her eyes were over his head. Without really looking at Spencer, she managed to yank him down the steps.

"Get out of the way," she ordered. "You're holding up Bernie."

VETERANS' GUIDE

BY MAJOR THOMAS M. NIAL

WASHINGTON — Here we go with another Question and Answer day. The one about taxes below is extra interesting.

I've had several letters from fellows still in the service who read this stuff and say they like it. But I have one here from a guy I know personally—M-Sgt. Ralph Munger over in England. He served with me some time back at an air base where we used to get out the "Post Star"—a base newspaper. Ralph was editor for a time, and good.

He tells me his girl sends him all the clippings of this column—gets them from the Syracuse, N. Y. "Post Standard." "200 to 300 men in my squadron," Ralph says, "either read them or hear quotes from them. They have done more to clarify—than anything that has ever reached us."

Thanks for the praise, Ralph.

G. L. H., Chicago, asks this: "I'm a veteran of the World War and I've lost my discharge certificate. How would I go about replacing it?"

Honest, I've had all I can do to keep up with things affecting ex-service men of the Global War (say World War II if you want). I don't know much about the 1917 World War stuff.

But, for a Global War vet, a lost discharge certificate can't be replaced. Upon proper application and explanation to the Adjutant General's office (Army) and the Judge Advocate General's Office (Navy), a certificate showing that you previously held a discharge certificate will be issued.

That's why I've mentioned in the past that your discharge certificate should be treated as carefully as your favorite pin-up girl picture. Get the certificates recorded by your County Recorder (sometimes County Clerk) if you can. Also get a couple of photostatic copies, if possible. All this is likely to be worth the trouble later.

Question from Mrs. A. G. Spokane: I'm the widow of a lieutenant killed on a destroyer in the Atlantic. Can't I get any of the benefits of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act?

Not as the law now stands, Mrs. A. G. Senator Warren Magnuson from your own state (a Global War veteran himself, I believe) has introduced a bill which would give the benefits of the GI Bill to widows of men whose death resulted from service.

There can be some doubt about whether this bill ever would be accepted, because it might open the way for other groups, such as OWI men sent abroad to serve in or near combat zones.

Red Cross field directors' active-duty members of the Civil Air Patrol—civilian technicians who were overseas—and particularly that grand bunch of men who took plenty on the chin, the Merchant Marines.

Incidentally, a separate GI Bill of Rights for members of the Merchant Marine have been introduced.

Query from Don J. C. Muskogee, Oklahoma: Does a veteran get any relief or exemption from income taxes the first year after honorable discharge?

The answer is No. But I made a note that, back in April, Representative Flood of Pennsylvania offered a bill to affect the taxes of ex-service people.

My notes read that the bill would abate (I guess that means "soften" or "ease") taxes for every year of service and for one year before and after service. The bill also would grant special deductions for five years after discharge.

That bill was in the form of an amendment to the Internal Revenue Code. My notes also indicate that disabled veterans would get refunds if they paid taxes for any year since 1940.

Then, in July, Representative Domengoux of Louisiana introduced a measure which would exempt most vets from payment of any income tax for the taxable year in progress on the date of his discharge and the next taxable year after that date. The next year 75 percent of earned income would be exempt. Next year 50 percent.

These are bills, of course, and not laws. But Congress is in session, so keep your eye on the ball.

Washington at a Glance

By JACK STINNETT

By ARTHUR EDSON

(Substituting For Stinnett)
WASHINGTON — The sergeant talks softly and grins broadly. Big blond and country-boyish, he's the kind of a guy you like instantly.

Staff Sgt. Junior J. Spurrier of Bluefield, W. Va., 22 years old, is the guy who won a passel of medals, including the daddy of them all, the Congressional Medal of Honor. In one busy afternoon he captured a town singlehanded, killed 25 Germans and captured 20 more.

Sgt. Spurrier is all that, but he thinks he knows pretty well what the average GI is thinking. That's because, he says, he's an average GI himself.

If the sergeant is right, then what he thinks is highly important. For what the GI wants when he turns civilian will influence the legislation and the economy of this country for generations to come.

Spurrier is working with the Veterans of Foreign Wars now, as an adviser to other veterans trying to make a start.

This is why he thinks he is (or was) a typical GI:

He got through the seventh grade back in Bluefield and then dropped out of school. He never held a regular job before he joined the Army because he went in when he was 17. He spent four years and nine months in service, went through the European campaign, was wounded eight times, came home and was discharged in June.

Then he did just what the average GI does. He worked in a Bluefield furniture store a while but quit because he felt the pay—$40 a week—wasn't enough, and because he realized that he didn't know a hoot about furniture and was hired only because of his medals.

WORKER LISTS TO BE BROUGHT TO NWF MEETING

Details To Be Ironed Out
Monday Night; Kickoff
Set October 11

All city ward and township chairmen are asked to bring lists of their workers to a meeting of National War Fund committees in the common pleas court room in the Court House Monday at 8 P. M., Charles Reinke, campaign chairman, said today.

At that meeting all the odds and ends of the campaign which still are to be cleared up will be taken care of, Reinke said.

The main reason for wanting the list of all workers in the city and county is so that a theater ticket can be mailed them, Reinke said.

A kick-off meeting for the drive will be at a theater party at the Fayette Theater October 11, Reinke said. He indicated a good speaker would be engaged for the day and said that free tickets for the movie would be mailed to all workers.

Instead of distributing campaign materials at a meeting of workers, they will be distributed by mail, he added. Reports for this National War Fund drive also will be made by mail, he indicated.

The goal for the 1945 drive is $23,000 and is designed to last 15 months instead of a year. The NWF campaign this year is to be the last one, it was added.

SHOE RATION DECISION

COMING NEXT MONTH

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(AP)—The government will decide next weekend whether to end shoe rationing October 1.

The War Production Board's Leather Bureau has recommended termination of the program then.

Officials of the Leather Bureau estimate that by the end of this month, shoe output will be at the rate of about 30,000,000 pairs a month. That would be about the same as the 1939 rate.

Betty Lucas Becomes Bride Of T-Sgt. W. C. Allen, Jr., at Formal Church Ceremony

Double Ring Vows Exchanged in Methodist Church Thursday Evening Before Capacity Number of Guests; Reception at Country Club

Interspersed along the greenery entwined chancel railing at the altar of Grace Methodist Church were tall white tapers which were lighted during the double ring ceremony which united in marriage Miss Betty Jane Lucas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lucas, of the Circleville Road, and Technical Sergeant William C. Allen, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Allen, Sr., of 330 Hopkins Street, city, on Thursday evening, September 27th. Officiating were Rev. G. B. Parkin and Rev. J. K. Abernethy, of the First Presbyterian Church.

Beginning at seven-fifteen o'clock, a program of vocal and organ nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Marian Gage, organist and Miss Marian Osborn, soprano vocalist.

Miss Osborn's numbers included "Because" and "Through the Years." The organ numbers were "Oh Promise Me," "Benediction" and "Ich Liebe Dich."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was preceded to the altar by her maid of honor, Miss Sarah Lyon. Miss Lyon's floor-length gown was fashioned of aqua crepe, with a sweetheart neckline, three-quarter length sleeves and a full skirt. She wore a gold chain bracelet, a gift of the bride, and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses, centered with a gardenia, and tied with pink ribbons.

The vows were exchanged before four seven-branch candelabras.

Miss Lucas made a pretty picture as she approached the altar on the arm of her father, wearing a floor-length wedding gown of white satin which was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long fitted sleeves that ended in points at the hand. The dropped waistline swirled into a full train, and the back of the gown was buttoned with white satin-covered buttons. She was wearing a necklace. Her pearl tiara was fastened to her fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a bridal bouquet of white rose buds, centered with a single white orchid, and it was tied with white ribbons.

Best man for the bridegroom was Mr. Richard Sanderson, city. Ushers were Staff-Sgt. Jack Schaefer, Ravenna, Staff-Sgt. Dick Campello, of Indianapolis, Ind., Staff-Sgt. R. L. Harcourt of Milroy, Ind., and Mr. Harold Robinson, city.

For her daughter's marriage, Mrs. Lucas chose a black street-length frock with which she wore a pastel blue feather hat and had black accessories. Her corsage was of pink rose buds. Mrs. Allen chose a black ensemble with pink accessories. Her corsage was of pink rose buds, also.

Miss Osborn sang "The Lord's Prayer" at the close of the ceremony. Immediately following the ceremony, the bride party and ninety-five invited guests assembled at the Country Club where a reception was held for the newly-weds.

Assisting at the beautifully appointed bride's table, after the newly-weds had cut the cake, were Miss Barbara Allen and Miss Susan Williams. The base of the three-tiered cake was banked with mums and gardenias while two watergardens of white pom poms, pink roses and greenery were flanking the cake. Presiding at the silver coffee services were Mrs. DeWitt Thornton and Miss Betty Cook. The table was flanked by two seven-branch candelabras. Others assisting at the serving table were Mrs. Donald Rockhold, Mrs. Charles James and Miss Phyllis Pittenger. For going-away, the new Mrs. Allen chose a black and white wood dressmaker suit which she accented with black and white accessories. Pinned to a black top coat was her white orchid. After a two weeks' wedding trip, Sgt. and Mrs. Allen will return to their homes in this city. He reports on October 19 at Kelley Field, San Antonio, Texas, after a 75 day furlough spent at home.

Tech-Sgt. Allen, interned in neutral Sweden for fifteen months after being forced down in that country, is a radio gunner on a bomber. He entered service December 1, 1942, and went overseas in December, 1943. He arrived back in this country on August 3 of this year.

Mrs. Allen will resume her office position at the Dayton Power and Light Company when her husband leaves for Texas. She is a graduate of Washington C. H. High School in the class of 1940.

A host of friends in this city and at other points are extending their happy felicitations to the popular couple.

Mrs. Fred Enslin was a gracious hostess when she invited six tables of guests to her lovely home on East Street, Thursday evening, for a dinner-bridge. The Enslin home provided a perfect setting for the affair and as the twenty-four guests arrived they were invited to small tables which were placed in the spacious living room.

Assisting Mrs. Enslin during the serving of a most temptingly prepared two course dinner were Mrs. John Forsythe, Mrs. Thomas Christopher and Mrs. Leonard Korn. An informal hour of chatting at the tables was prolonged by the guests with Mrs. Enslin presiding as hostess. Miniature pitcher-shaped vases, filled with assorted garden flowers, centered each table.

The remainder of the evening was devoted to playing bridge. At the conclusion of an especially keen game, prizes were presented to Mrs. Paul Van Voorhis, Mrs. Ormond Dewey, Mrs. Arch Newbrey while traveling prize went to Mrs. Norman McLean.

The guests included were Mrs. Norman McLean, Mrs. Ormond Dewey, Mrs. W. H. Limes, Mrs. Henry Brownell, Jr., Mrs. C. G. Hayes, Mrs. L. F. Everhart, Mrs. Ira Barchet, Mrs. Paul Van Voorhis, Mrs. N. M. Reiff, Mrs. Thomas Bush, Mrs. Jack Persinger, Mrs. Paul Strevey, Mrs. L. L. Brock, Mrs. Arch Newbrey, Mrs. Betty Budnek, Mrs. G. B. Vance, Mrs. Charles Hare, Mrs. Leonard Korn, Mrs. R. L. Danton, Mrs. John Forsythe, Mrs. Thomas Christopher, Mrs. Francis Haines, Mrs. L. M. Hayes and Mrs. Robert M. Burnett.

WITH THE CHICAGO CUBS EN ROUTE TO PITTSBURGH, Sept. 28—(AP)—You could hardly call the laughing, clowning Cubs a sorry set of guys today as they headed for the last stop of the season assured of no worse than a tie for the National League pennant, but there were some old hands who hoped the Pirates and elephants were no kin in the memory family.

It was just seven years ago, about this time, they recalled, that the Cubs had their World Series tickets printed and their special series seats all built and painted pretty and their extra hot dogs ordered out there in Forbes Field. Then they went to Chicago to play the Cubs, and a guy named Gabby Hartnett, of whom you may have heard, hit a homer in the dark to knock the roof on them, and the Cubs went on to win the pennant by a whisker.

"Wow," wowed one younger member of the Cub troupe hearing the story today, "and now we take them on in our last three games, and all we have to do is win one and we're in—but all they have to do is knock us out three straight and they throw us into a tie with the Cards for the pennant. Boy, could they get even now!"

It was taken as a good sign that the Cubs might be in a mood to forgive and forget that eight year old grudge, since they obligingly clouted the Cards last night for the Cubs. Coupled with the doubleheader the Chicago took from the docile Cincinnati Reds yesterday, this made it impossible for the Cubs to do any worse than tie for the flag.

But if the dice should come up acey-deucey and the Pittsburghs should "get hurt" by clouting the Cubs in that doubleheader tomorrow and single game Sunday, the thing would wind up in a bow knot, and that would mean a three-game playoff.

Yesterday, the Reds rolled over and played dead in front of the Cubs for the 21st time in the 22 times they've seen the Grizzlies this year. That's rolling over so completely, it equals a record reached only three times in all baseball history.

"Don't worry about us," jolly Cholly Grimm, the Cubs' boss warned as he led his hollering, singing outfit toward smokytown. "We'll play 'em as they come, and we'll win this thing."

15th Heat Won By Snappy Kate

Snappy Kate, Elmer Junk's high strung trotting mare turned in her 15th heat win for the season in the mud at Hamilton Thursday afternoon when she finished third, first and second in one of the features of the afternoon's Butler County Fair program.

The time for the three mile heats was around 2:15 but, Junk explained, the track was heavy with water standing on it in spots.

Several followers of the sport went to the races from here.

As he reshaped the race, Junk said with a note of pride that Snappy Kate has not been out of the money this season. Taken over after she had been given up by several previous owners, Junk remade her much the same as he did Doctor S which he raced successfully before he sold him to Canadian sportsmen for racing on the big time tracks in the east.

Eagles Hall. And, the way they have been going leads the league's officials, under whose jurisdiction the game is to be played, that their appraisal of general interest and the attendance was not wrong.

The only worry now for fans and players alike is the weather. What with rains drenching the countryside consistently during the past week, league officials went into a huddle with the managers and came up with an agreement to play the game on Oct. 7 if rain interferes Sunday.

The All-Star team, selected from the other five teams in the league, has the advantage in offensive power. Batting records show that the players selected have an average at the plate of

Practice Matches Rolled by Teams

Getting ready for the bowling season which begins Monday night with the Fraternal League kegling, two challenge matches were rolled at the Main Street alleys Thursday night.

Ring's outfit from Jeffersonville tangled with and defeated the Slagle-Kirk team two games out of three. None of the three games was close—all the wins were by comfortable margins. The total gave the Ring keggers a 138 pin edge.

In a match between teams from Sabina and Washington C. H., the Washingtonians clinched the victory by winning both of the games rolled. The pin total was 1,555 for the Washington C. H. boys and 1,471 for the Sabinaans.

Ott and McCarthy Renew Contracts

NEW YORK, Sept. 28—(AP)—Managers Mel Ott of the New York Giants and Joe McCarthy of the Yankees will be back at the helm of their ball clubs in 1946.

Ott yesterday signed a new 5-year contract, replacing a three-year document which still had a year to go. The terms were not made public, but were estimated at $25,000 annually.

President Larry MacPhail of the Yankees announced from Havana, where he is negotiating to have his team train next spring, Joe McCarthy would be retained as manager.

CUB-TIGER SERIES VIRTUALLY ASSURED

By the Associated Press

Only a complete collapse on the part of the Chicago Cubs or the Detroit Tigers will prevent them from meeting in the World Series.

The Cubs today enjoy a three game lead over the St. Louis Cardinals in the National League pennant race as a result of yesterday's double triumph over Cincinnati, 3-1 and 7-4 while the Cards were bowing to Pittsburgh 5-2.

Even if the Cubs were to lose all three of their remaining games and the Cards win their three, Cholly Grimm's now Jolly Bruins, like the Tigers in the American League, can get no worse than a tie for the flag.

Steve O'Neill's cock-sure Bengals, idle yesterday, remain inactive until tomorrow when they come to grips with the defending champion St. Louis Browns. Like the Cubs, they need only one victory to edge out Washington for the Junior Loop championship.

In the event a "miracle" occurs, and the Cubs and Tigers blow all their remaining games, while the Cards win theirs, the Cubs and Cards would meet in a playoff game on Monday as would the Tigers and Senators otherwise the Tigers will attempt to even their World Series competition against the Cubs to whom they lost in 1907 and '08 and defeated in 1935.

Should the Cubs cop, they'll have their "cousins," the Reds to thank. Yesterday's twin win gave Cubs a mark of 21 victories against one loss for the year's campaigning against the Rhinelanders.

Hank Wyse and Paul Derringer elbowed the victories, Don Johnson's sixth inning double and Peanut Lowrey's homer breaking up the opener, and triples by Lowrey and Phil Cavarretta bringing in the deciding runs in the nightcap.

The Cubs' joy was dimmed when second baseman Johnson suffered a muscle spasm in his neck in a collision with Umpire Babe Pinelli in the opener, and was taken to Christ Hospital.

The Cards lost the game in the first frame when George Dockins was tagged for three hits and the same number of runs before he was relieved by Al Jurisich.

In the only other big league contest, the Yankees clung to their slight chance to finish third in the American League standing, with a 5-1 conquest of the Philadelphia Athletics.

The Cleveland Indians-Browns contest was washed out by rain.

Cleveland, that "failure on the part of you and your associates to accept this invitation will leave the United Mine Workers of America free to take such independent action as may be required."

Lewis asked for the conference "for the purpose of settling the question involved and abating the controversy that now runs riot and imperils the coming winter supply of coal."

In the Pacific Northwest, a threatened strike of some 37,000 CIO lumber workers was postponed at least until October 3 but the area's wood fuel supply was steadily shrinking as the strike by 60,000 AFL workers for wage increases entered its fifth day.

Strikes and layoffs in the Detroit area idled 80,000 and the oil strike brought further curtailment of production.

New York City's paralyzing strike of 15,000 AFL building service employees continued but there was a possibility of arbitration as leaders and their employers agreed to meet with the New York State Mediation Board. The strike, costing an estimated millions of dollars in trade and wages paid, spread to 100 additional buildings yesterday, but the union promised no further structures would be struck. Wages and hours are the main issues.

The brightest spot on the troubled labor scene was the settlement of a sitdown strike at the New York Shipbuilding Corporation in Camden, N. J., enabling about 20,000 workers to go back to their jobs on Monday, after a week's idleness.

Another stoppage reported settled was at two Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron Co. coal mines in Birmingham, Ala., putting 900 United Mine Workers back in the pits.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Sept. 28—(AP)—The killing frost threat has been raised out of most of the major corn belt and long liquidation influenced by this factor pushed grain futures downward more than a cent a bushel at times today.

Killing frost had been predicted in Iowa, with heavy frost in parts of Illinois, but the widespread precipitation apparently had eliminated or at least postponed this threat. The crop is late and rushing to maturity, and frost would cause considerable soft corn.

ROMANTIC YANK CAPTURES GERMAN IN HOME OF GIRL HE COULD NOT CAPTURE

once—perhaps any pretty girl looks desirable to a soldier in a strange cold country—he fell violently in love with her.

Now an American soldier at that time had two great weapons in his armory of romance. One was his personal charm. The other was—food. In practical Belgium, where war had emptied thousands of larders, many a marriage blossomed in families where American soldiers first won good will by presenting the doting Belgian parents with a side of bacon and several cases of ten-in-one rations appropriated by "midnight requisition" from an army kitchen.

The lieutenant was a proud man. He decided to win his disdainful girl by personal charm. He brought the girl flowers. She took them with an audible sniff, and it was her mother who put them into vases with a worried frown. He tried to go sking with her, and she slipped away from him to go to the forest ski run with other village girls. One night when the family was gathered in the tiny parlor she sat at the piano and played Liszt's "Liebesträume" and Schubert's "Serenade."

She struck the piano sharply and he thought she was playing such tender selections much too loudly, but they encouraged him. He walked over and sat down by her side on the bass end of the piano. She turned her shoulder to him coldly and played the soprano end only. Rebuffed, he moved away. The mother glanced up uneasily. The father buried himself in the second volume of a French pictorial history of the First World War with an harassed look.

The next day the lieutenant noticed the family had hardly anything on the table for dinner. Realizing personal charm had failed to win entry, he swallowed his gold bar pride—nobody is as touchy and proud as a second lieutenant—and decided to try the second alternative, food.

He brought cans of orange juice and packages of cigarettes and pipe tobacco. Father smiled. He brought a sack of coffee, a carton of tea bags, some sugar, some flour. Mama thawed visibly. He brought a boxful of potatoes, two great frozen chunks of meat. The girl turned him a rainbow face.

His romance was on the upgrade. With each gift of food his girl gave him happy looks. The lieutenant began thinking of engagement rings, of marriage.

One evening at dusk he met her on the stairs as he was going to his room. Her father and mother had gone a few streets away to visit a family in which there had been a death. As she passed he reached out and drew her to him and kissed her for the first time. Her face looked troubled as she pulled away, and then she told him lightly in French to come down in an hour and they would sing and play the piano together.

He waited in his room a few minutes, then grew restless. He took off his shoes and put on his slippers and tried to read. He couldn't. He slammed the book shut and walked down to the first floor. It was empty in the growing darkness.

Then he heard his girl laugh. It was the contented laugh of one in love. It came faintly from below. He walked out into the kitchen. There were fresh bread scraps on the table. He heard the laugh again.

Uncertainly he opened the cellar door, and her laugh welled out again clear and strong. He heard her say tenderly in a tone she had never used with him—"ma cherie." And then as the hairs began to stand up stiffly on the back of his neck, he heard a man's voice reply softly in guttural German.

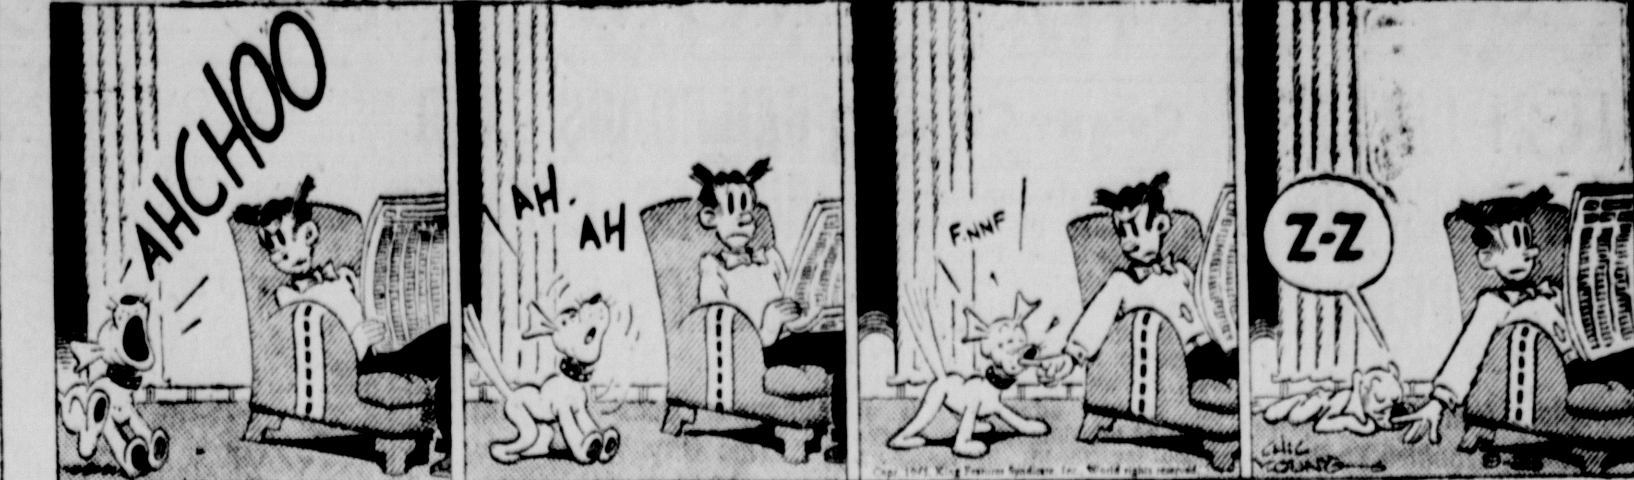

Immediately the lieutenant understood. He had been quartered in a border family of German sympathizers. The girl had fallen in love with a German soldier and hidden him in her cellar. It was for him she played love selections on the piano so strongly—so he could hear them in his hideaway.

With sick heart and no sense of victory the lieutenant moved soundlessly down the cellar stairs to take his rival prisoner.

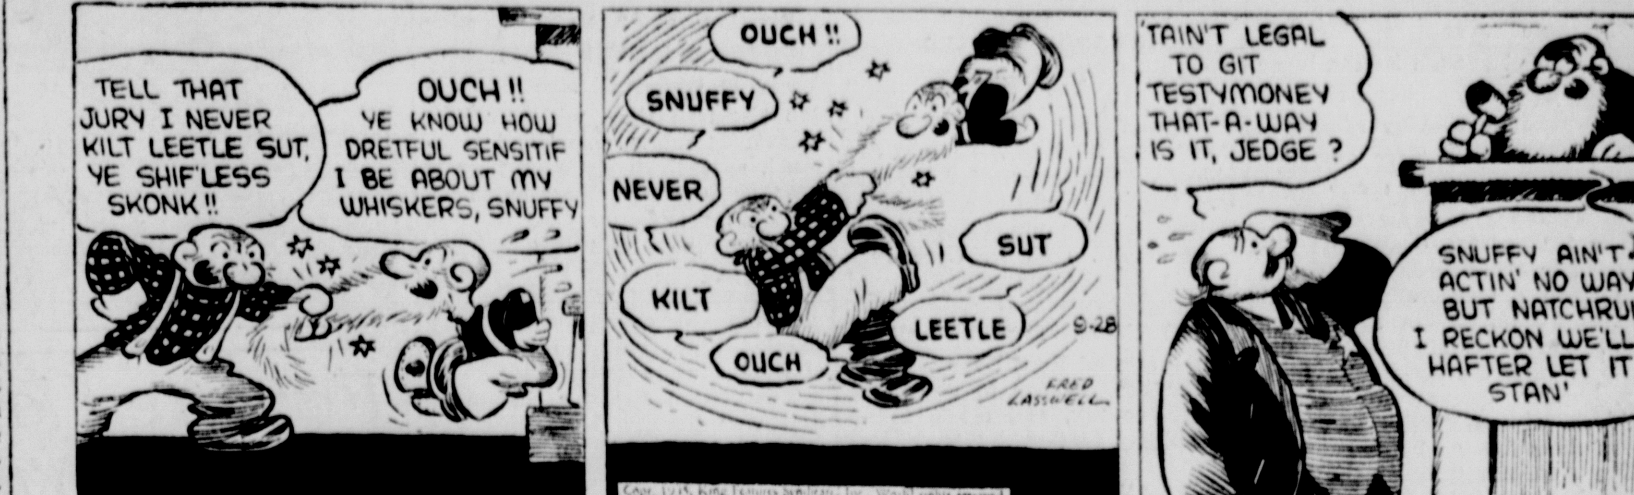

The best method of canning from standpoint of accident prevention and food preservation is pressure cooking.

110 HORSES FROM 4 STATES ENTERED IN SHOW HERE

ALL 21 CLASSES DRAW ENTRIES WITH PROMISE

Champions from Other Shows Coming; Trophies To Be Presented

If there ever had been any doubts about enough horses being here to make a good horse show at the Fairground Sunday afternoon and evening, they were dispelled completely when the entry list was checked Friday morning.

The first of them are now beginning to come in and more will join them during Saturday.

The committee of the Lions Club, which is sponsoring the show to raise money for its fund for buying glasses for needy children, now is starting to worry about stalls for the horses.

The first checking of the lists for making up the program showed at least 110 horses and ponies would be here and that they would comprise at least 184 entries. They represent 74 owners from three states in addition to Ohio.

Howard C. Allen and J. Martin Cox, with more than a quarter of a century of horse show management experience for a background, in helping the Lions put on the show, agreed that there were enough horses for a three-day show and that Sunday's two-day event should be on a par with some of those brilliant affairs that were held as the night fair feature before the war.

Leaving through the entries, they pointed at random to such horses as Pistol Packin' Papa, owned by C. C. Metzger of Cincinnati, which has taken championship in classes for plantation, or walking, horses all over the midwest this summer. Here he will face competition from a field of ten in the afternoon and another of like size in the stake at night.

Five-Gaited "Hummer"

The class for five-gaited saddle horses was described as a "hummer" and a "battle royal" was predicted when the nine horses entered—most of which have won championships—meet for the first time here. Two picked out for outstanding records were Gray Reveler from Broadview Farm at Gahanna and Fleet Peavine from the Fisher Stables from Indiana.

The fine harness class has been given a distinctly local tinge by the entries of Royal San owned by R. L. Littleton and Son of Sabina and Patsy Terrell from Mrs. and Mrs. Howard C. Allen's Cherry Hill Stable here. Both have many championships to their credit which they will have to defend here against a field of at least half a dozen outstanding fine harness horses.

Lady Le Grand from the Broadview Farms and Miss Midnight from the Marion Stables are lined up to renew their duel for the three-gaited saddle horse honors which reached fever heat at the River Ridge Saddle Club show this month.

More than a dozen hunters and jumpers will add the thrills over the hurdles. More of the spectacular to horse shows, are coming here, Allen and Cox agreed, because of the thoroughbred traditions in Fayette County.

21 Classes On Program

In all there are 11 classes on the afternoon program and 10 on the one for the evening and, committee spokesmen said, everyone of them was studied with "big name" horses from some of the most prominent stables in this section.

The class for ponies under saddle drew 19 entries and that for boys and girls 12 to 16 years old for horsemanship had 13. The class especially for the men and women who ride for pleasure was even more popular than had been expected and got 9 entries.

The committee was almost jubilant over the response of the youngsters. There will be nine of them in the ring with their ponies and fancy turnouts in addition to the adults.

dition to the score showing under saddle.

The class for this year's foals, always one of the popular features of shows here, attracted 11 entries.

The demand for reserved box seats has been greater than had been anticipated and the committee chairman said they were virtually all taken now. This was viewed as an indication that if the weather is anything like good the crowd will be good even though the show lacks the added drawing power of the fair.

Trophies will be presented in 15 of the 21 classes of the show. Most of them are on display in Craig's Department Store window. They range from a large gold cup to ash trays and small horse figures.

Altogether there are 13 donors of trophies, two of whom are giving two trophies.

The list of trophy donors and the class for which they are presenting them is: Record-Herald, five gaited class, ladies to ride; Ohio Oil Company, five gaited junior horses; Ellet Kaufman, five gaited stake; Ohio Water Service Company, three gaited, ladies to ride; Dr. J. H. Persinger, three gaited open class.

Jane Ann McCoy, three gaited stake; Harold F. McCord, foals of 1945; Lions Club, fine harness stake; Harry's Drive-In, plantation horse stake; Parrett Insurance Agency, green hunters; Craig Brothers Department Store, horsemanship class for riders 12 to 16 and horsemanship class for riders under 12; Patton's Book Store, pony under saddle and pony fancy turnout and the G. C. Murphy Company, Fayette County pleasure horses.

In the pleasure horse class, added after the regular premium lists had gone, nine Fayette County horses and riders have been entered. The pleasure class was limited to horses and adult riders from Fayette County only. Entrants include Willard B. Williams, Beverly Gorton, K. K. Knox, Leo Fisher, Eddie Graves, Mrs. Jesse Johnson, Mrs. John Johnson, Mrs. John Sagar, Karl Gorman and Willard Willard.

RAILROADS AND BUSSES CHANGE TIME ON SUNDAY

Change Does Not Affect This City Where Slow Time Is Observed

Starting at 2 A. M. Sunday railroads and all business generally in Ohio will observe eastern standard time, which is now known as "slow time," and inasmuch as eastern standard time is now observed in Washington C. H. by most firms, no change will be made by this city.

The few firms that have been observing "fast" war time, will automatically change over to the regular time, and the confusion of time ends, automatically.

The reason for the change is that war time will be officially dropped in the nation with the close of September.

Railroads turn to the new time at 2 A. M. Sunday, and the last passenger train to be operated by the B. and O. through this city, on the present "fast" time will be No. 36, eastbound, at 12:21 A. M. Sunday. The next train, due at 4:52 A. M. will be on eastern standard time.

Present time schedules will be maintained, it is indicated, but eastern standard time will be observed instead of eastern war time.

Buses will be operated on eastern standard time. They are now operated on "war" time.

The Record Herald is one of the business enterprises in this city that, in order to make the mails, has operated on "fast" time continuously since it was put into effect as a war measure, but effective Sunday, eastern standard "slow" time will be observed, due to the change made by buses and railroads.

All surrounding points that have observed fast time will also drop back to eastern standard time Sunday.

MADISON SPORTSMEN TO STAGE JAMBOREE

One of the main features of the Jamboree which will be staged by the Madison County Fish and Game Association at the Madison County Fair Grounds, London, September 30, will be the oon dog field trial. A guaranteed purse of $300 is offered.

Other events include pony races, a trap shoot, bird dog and beagle hunt, bench show, bait and fly casting tournament.

R. K. Connor, president of the association, has named a number of committees which have been working on the various phases of the jamboree. Entries in all departments indicate that there is much interest in the event throughout the state, especially in central Ohio. A large attendance is expected.

Refreshments and eats will be available at 11 A. M. and the jamboree program will start at 1 P. M. (slow time) rain or shine.

FREDDIE BRANDENBURG GRADUATES TO SCOUTS

Freddie Brandenburg graduated into Boy Scout troop 64 from the Cub Scouts at a ceremony conducted by Charles Crome, the cubmaster, assisted by Ronald Merritt of Troop 64.

Other advancements were Terry Bright and Buell McBrayer to bear rank and Marvin Wilson to wolf rank.

STATE HEALTH DIRECTOR TO BE ROTARY SPEAKER

Dr. Roger Heering, state director of health, will be the Rotary Club speaker for its Tuesday noon meeting at the Country Club.

Dr. Heering's subject will be "Problems of Public Health."

Sgt. Earl Hickie is home on furlough from Fort McClellan, Ala., to visit his wife, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paris Custer of the Chillicothe road.

Among the U. S. Coast Guardsmen discharged under the navy point system from the Coast Guard Separation Center, St. Louis, Mo., and now at home with his wife and family, is Albert Thomas Harper, Coxswain, 206 West Temple Street.

Given West, the son of Mrs. Bessie West, 215 West Market Street, has received his honorable discharge from the army after serving overseas in England for two years with the Eighth Air Force.

Francis E. Morgan, electrician's mate, first class, since boarding the Idaho at Long Beach, Calif., in January, 1943 has served on the veteran battleship through 8 operations including the wild Kamikaze raids off Okinawa.

The arrival of the Idaho in Tokyo Bay as part of the U. S. occupational force represents the termination of a series of long, arduous, operations for the ship and the men that man her.

Morgan expressed his reactions in this manner: "It is very nice to know that the war is over and that we will all be going home to our wives and families once again and it makes a person feel pretty good to be in the group that sailed into Tokyo Bay, as that is something every man in the navy has been looking forward to a long time."

Morgan's wife lives at 131 Oak Street.

Austin Frederick, Rdm 3-c, radarmen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Frederick of near Washington C. H., but who resides at 1823 Highland Avenue, Springfield, has an outstanding record of duty well done aboard the U.S.S. Henry A. Wiley, in the Pacific theater of war.

Serving on board the Wiley from August 31, 1944, until the present date, Frederick was advanced from S 2-c to Rdm 3-c. Before he joined the navy,
